

Parkinson's Disease Group Wellness Program

Classes are designed for those living with Parkinson's Disease to help improve speech and maintain optimal levels of fitness. The exercise class is led by a physical therapist and the speech class is led by a speech language pathologist. Participants must be able to walk independently. If assistance to walk is required, then a caregiver must accompany the participant.

The cost is $15 per 2-hour class.

Participants have an opportunity to:

- ♦ Build a framework for wellness
- ♦ Develop an individualized home exercise program
- ♦ Facilitate balance, strength, and core stability
- ♦ Improve vocal quality
- ♦ Build breath support for more audible speech
- ♦ Improve gross and fine motor skills to assist with activities of daily living
- ♦ An overview of therapeutic techniques and equipment designed for individuals with Parkinson's disease
