Join Casa Colina Hospital and Centers for Healthcare for a series of free health screenings focused on podiatric care. These clinics aim to identify people at risk for lower-limb amputation—specifically those with diabetes and peripheral artery disease.

The foot exam will take 5 to 10 minutes and will be performed by a certified wound care nurse with experience treating diabetic foot ulcers. The nurse provides a dermatological, neurological, musculoskeletal, and vascular screening for all participants, followed by appropriate recommendations if needed.

Individuals who will benefit from this service include those with diabetes who are not routinely seen by a podiatrist, those with undiagnosed lower-extremity vascular disease, and those with neuropathy. These screenings are a community benefit offered by the Casa Colina Limb Preservation Program.

About the Casa Colina Limb Preservation Program

For individuals with diabetes or peripheral artery disease, common foot conditions such as ulcers, blisters, or other open wounds can become infected or heal poorly, causing avoidable complications. The Casa Colina Limb Preservation Program aims to expand podiatric care and education for those most at risk in our community. All patients have access to Casa Colina's broad continuum of care, including wound care and hyperbaric therapy, world-class physical therapy, and state-of-the-art surgical services—all available on our 20-acre Pomona campus.
